Assalamualaikum. Wr.Wb.

One of concrete implementation of Profil Pelajar Pancasila is to conduct an activity that ignite the values of Profil Pelajar Pancasila characters. Thus, these English short stories project of grade X has shown us of those values.

First, the teamwork values. In the making of these short stories both students and teacher worked hand in hand. The students were given constructive feedback not only from other students but also from the teacher to revise their writing.

Secondly, the creativity and the Independence value. Through this project, the creativity of the students was challenged as they were asked to explore more on what to write based on the given topic and make sure that their writing was not a plagiarised one. Moreover, students' independency was fostered in the process of finishing of these short stories as each of them needed to do their part on their team by themselves first.

Lastly, These English short stories project is one of ways to escalate the students' global knowledge. The students here were given chances to find many various sources from around the world through the internet and interviews. With the guide from the English teacher, Ms. Molly, the students were also facilitated on how to adapt the sources they had read to their writing.

Please enjoy our students' masterpiece.

FOREWORD

Assalammualaikum. Wr.Wb.

I'd like to send an enormous gratitude to God the Almighty for the support and the ease to all students to finish this great project. Moreover, I'd like to thank bu Tjahyani, M.Pd. as the principal of SMAN 30 Jakarta who always gives her utmost support to any of the teacher-students projects conducted. Lastly, the big thanks go to all students who had tried their best to meet all feedbacks I had given to them to ensure that these short stories project finally finished by the deadline.

This book is an epitome of grade X students' hard work in the topics of Explanation text and Conjunction (Cause-effect and Concession). Initiating this project was once I thought a mission impossible as the process of creating the short stories was not an instant process. Every article the students made was guided thoroughly. They were given chances to discuss with their team members, present the progress in front of the class, receive feedbacks not only from me as the teacher but also from their colleagues, and also revise their work. The paramount goal of this activity is to unleash the students' true potential especially fostering their skills on writing, creativity, and teamwork. Hence, it took a semester to finish this great project. Hopefully, the readers can enjoy reading the short stories as much as I do.

June 2023,

FOREWORD

Praise and Gratitude we always pray to God Almighty because of the abundance of His grace and grace we were able to finish the short story with the title 'family treasure'. This short story is about a woman who had a plane crash and left her in a coma. And it was this woman that Dr.Stange needed to accomplish the secret mission.

In writing this short story, we realized that we would not be able to finish it without the help of various parties. They have contributed their energy and thoughts in the preparation of the short story so that it has the plot it is today.

As human beings, we are aware that the short stories we make are still not worthy of being called a perfect work. We realize that our writing still has many mistakes, both in terms of grammar and the writing technique itself. So we ask for constructive input so that we are even more motivated to be better and further improve the quality of our next short stories.

Jane was on a mission to find her family's inheritance but in the middle of a mission she had a plane crash which put her in a coma and is hospitalized which makes her family's inheritance delayed because Jane had a long coma, Dr. Strange, who is her partner, is looking for her to come. Dr. Strange used his powers to find Jane by opening a portal to enter the Multiverse.

Jane after he entered he looked for Jane and finally found Jane in a coma in the hospital. Because this mission is very important, Dr. Strange must continue to carry out the mission. Because Jane is in a coma, she is looking for a way out.

Others to complete this mission by find and bring Jane who comes from another multiverse Dr. Strange used his power to look for Jane in another multiverse Dr. Strange open a portal to another multiverse after entered another multiverse Dr. Strange accidentally met Wanda and Wanda already knew the purpose of his arrival Dr. Strange. he rushed home to tell Jane, on the other hand, Dr. Strange managed to get Jane's home address.

Without thinking, Dr. Strange went straight to the address given by the local people when he arrived. met doctor strange completes about the mission he will be carrying out with Jane in the other multiverse and told Jane of plan and. Jane agreed to help doctor strange.

Before they leave marry give jane a bracelet to communicate with. after that dr strange and jane immediately went through the multiverse portal to carry out their mission after they arrived at mount everest they went to the top after arriving they immediately saw the altar where the legacy was located.

Jane immediately banged on the altar and suddenly the altar stood up and took out its inheritance in the form necklace and immediately used it after that Jane immediately used the power of the necklace to get rid of Dr Strange.

Then dr. strange lost and fell from the top of the mountain jane thought that dr strange was dead but actually dr strange had not died but only fainted jane left the mountain headed to the hospital to kill jane who was in a coma but before he succeeded dr strange suddenly appeared and managed to stop jane. Doctor Strange immediately attacked Jane to get the necklace.

But , unfortunately doctor strange power didn't work. Jane immediately left Doctor Strange. Then Doctor Strange used his powers to turn back time. and immediately stopped Jane before she got the necklace. and doctor strange's method worked after the necklace came out, doctor strange immediately killed the evil jane. and went with the necklace to the hospital

MORAL MESSAGE

Before doing something, don't immediately make a choice that you think might work, but first think about the impact it will receive, if in the world you are partners, it doesn't mean that in another multiverse, you are still partners, it's not Jane's or Dr. Strange's fault, it's just that Dr. Strange took things too fast. shortcut without thinking dr.strange only thought that jane would wake up and then carry out his mission again indeed dr.strange and jane's mission managed to get jane's legacy (a necklace filled with power) but unfortunately jane in the multiverse is an evil jane, but dr.stroge doesn't live silent dr.stroge managed to snatch the necklace from the evil jane.

Praise and Gratitude always go to God Almighty because of His abundance of grace and gifts we are able to complete the story with the title 'Jane, The Journalist'. This novel tells a story about a journalist who ran away from a government because she knows about the government secret, what will happen to jane?

In writing this novel, we realized that we could not be able to complete it without the help of our team. Especially for our English teacher Ms. Maulidia, our classmates, and our beloved family. Each of us has contributed our energy and thoughts in the preparation of the novel so that it has the flow that it has today. And when making this chapter, even though we have tried our best, of course there are still many shortcomings and limitations. We are aware that our writing still has many errors, both in terms of grammar and technique. So we ask for constructive input so that we are even more motivated to be better and further improve the quality of our next novel.

In the morning Jane opened her eyes at 5.30 am to get ready for the airport. Jane's identity is a journalist who write articles about government secrets, the government know that Jane is on her way to the big city to distribute the article to the time magazine studio in New York.

While on the plane, Jane felt something strange on her plane. It turned out that someone was watching her and that person was an assassin sent by the government. When they made eye contact the man immediately attacked Jane then a fight broke out between them. Jane briefly confronts the assassin, but the plane has been sabotaged to harm Jane.

The government secret that Jane know is that the government is hiding a massive burning of an island to build a new city, which threatens the habitation of the poor and destroyed their livelihoods. Even though burning forests and oppressing common people is a very bad thing, the government still done that. After Jane realized from her coma she immediately spread the article files to the internet so that the news spread to the wider community.

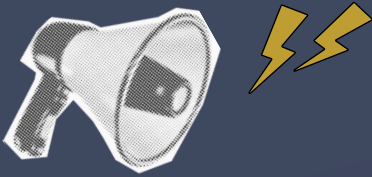

After Jane uploaded the article, suddenly someone broke down Jane's bedroom door. It turns out that this person is a contract killer sent by the government, namely Detective John. John, who did not want Jane's mission to succeed, immediately broke down Jane's bedroom door. But when John entered Jane's room the bed was empty, it turned out that Jane had run away from the hospital. John immediately mobilized his men to search for Jane throughout the city.

The nurse who had been caring for Jane when she was sick already knew all the things that had happened to Jane. The nurse named Lusi finally helped Jane in a way, giving Jane her car keys. When Jane drove her car, it turned out that in front of the hospital there were already John's men standing guard, Jane finally swerved the other way to escape from John's men, then there was a chase between Jane and John's men. Some of them had their guns pointed at Jane's car.

In a state of panic, Jane tried to avoid the bullets, but unfortunately there was already John's car which made Jane have to stop suddenly. John got out of the car and immediately pointed his gun at the side of Jane's car engine. When the bullet flew towards Jane, who had wanted to jump out but it was too late. Her car exploded on the spot.

After the incident, the local people were angry with the government. They carried out massive demonstrations. Because of these demonstrations, several governments were removed from office and will be punished. The environment damaged by the relevant government is repaired by the government and citizens who did not participate in destroying the environment.

The message we can get from this story is don't destroy nature just for the sake of it, because no matter how big the evil plan will be uncovered, one day, believe that the law of karma applies and do everything that you think is right and good for people, don't be afraid and listen to those who threaten you because that's why you still have the courage to fight.

THE SECRET BEHIND THE PLANE CRASH

FOREWARD

Praise be to the presence of God because with the abundance of grace and grace we can finish this story well. We summarize this story to fulfill an English assignment.

This summary story is very interesting and easy for readers to understand, and it tells about a woman who has special powers.

Hopefully this story can be read by readers, and can be useful. So that readers are interested in reading this short story.

Jane is a young woman who dreams of becoming a doctor. since childhood she likes to learn many things about the anatomy of the human body. She always studied diligently and diligently, never giving up. She also has a strong determination to pursue his dream.

After completing all her education. Jane decided to start working as a doctor in a small hospital. After years of working as a doctor, Jane finally rose to become head of all doctors at the hospital.

One day, Jane gets an assignment to go to a remote town to treat several patients who have incurable illnesses. Jane leaves by plane. She bought the plane ticket and immediately went to the airport. After two hours of driving, she finally arrived at the airport. Jane immediately confirmed the ticket so as not to miss the plane.

After Jane confirmed the ticket, she headed to the waiting room to wait for her plane which was delayed. While waiting suddenly a foreign mother approached Jane, the mother asked "excuse me, where are you going?" Jane answered the question completely. After a long conversation, she left Jane

An hour waiting for the plane came Jane rushed to board it. On the way, the plane had a little accident. At first it was manageable but over time the plane lost control and finally crashed..

A lot of help came to find victims including Jane. After two days of searching, the hospital confirmed that all the victims had disappeared and were not found again.

Jane's parents cried and were very sad, they asked the hospital to continue the search for victims, because Jane was an only child and her parents loved her very much. But the hospital still insisted on ending the search.

Because they received no attention from the hospital, Jane's parents asked for accountability from the police.

The police also do not want to take responsibility. Because Jane's parents were so annoyed, they decided to burn down the hospital.

At night they go to the hospital and disguise themselves as patients. Thirty minutes went by, the hospital was on fire, patients, doctors and all the nurses died because they couldn't escape. Firefighters arrived to put out the fire and some help came to save the victims. Many journalists came to spread the news.

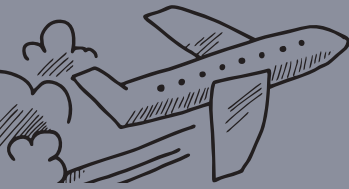

No one can find valid evidence, neither can detectives because the perpetrators left no traces. People are getting confused and suspect many things. Because the perpetrators were not found, the hospital and police finally closed this case.

Two years after the incident, news emerged that a figure similar to Jane had been found. The news spread all over social media, many netizens were confused and sparked a riot. The doctor also intervened to examine the DNA of the woman.

After the examination took place, it turned out that the doctor could not find clear DNA in the woman's body. Because many people did not believe, the woman was taken to a better hospital to be examined. After going to several hospitals but the results were still not found.

Many journalists interviewed the woman but there was no point of completion. In fact, she has been interviewed by more than ten journalists, but she still doesn't want to admit who she really is Until one day. When the woman was interviewed, she accidentally said the word and confessed who she really was.

Two years ago since the plane crash and it was stated that there were no survivors. It turned out to be true but at that time there was a woman who wanted to save Jane and that woman was the woman Jane met at the airport, the woman's name was Scarlet Witch. When Jane almost died she wanted to treat Jane but time was too late and she could only exchange Jane's soul with a creature in another universe. Finally she decided to exchange Jane's soul with the soul of another creature and miraculously Jane was alive but not with the original soul. When Jane came back to life, Scarlet warned Jane not to tell this secret to the public but who would have thought that she let slip..

FOREWORD

f our school, Ms. Tjahyani, M.Pd, who always gives us support and motivation in carrying out programs that lead to very, very significant interests and talents.

Finally, I would like to say to my friends who have contributed to making this project, who are always alert and responsive in carrying out their duties, and who are always willing to accept and give good input for the success of this project. This book is an example of the hard work of class X students on the text material Explanations and Conjunctions (Causes and Concessions).

I once considered starting this project as an impossible mission because the process of making short stories is not an instant process. Every article made by students is guided thoroughly. They are given the opportunity to discuss with their team members, present their progress in front of the class, receive feedback not only from me as the teacher but also from their colleagues, and also revise their work. The main objective of this activity is to bring out the true potential of students especially developing their skills in writing, creativity and teamwork. Hence, it took one semester to complete this great project. Hopefully readers can enjoy reading these short stories as much as I do.

One night there was a beautiful, tall, white-skinned woman with blonde hair, she traveled by plane from America to Canada. While enjoying the trip, the plane experienced a very strong crash, all the passengers, flight attendants, and all the crew were very panicked, but everyone on the plane prayed for safety to God.

The unexpected happened, like a nightmare for everyone. The plane crashes and falls into the wilderness. When the plane crashed, the signal from the plane reached the airport so the officers at the airport got the signal and it turned out that the plane had had an accident. The airport immediately sent rescue team assistance to immediately go to the plane crash site. There were already many victims who were lying down abysmally, the rescue team and the hospital team had confirmed that all the victims were not safe, but apparently there was one passenger who survived, and was immediately taken to the hospital to get first aid measures.

Jane woke up from her coma, she looked around with an unfamiliar gaze. Don't know where she is. Suddenly the door opened, a nurse entered Jane's ward. She asked Jane "hello, are you okay? what's your name?" Jane didn't answer the nurse's question, she was too confused to answer it. "Ok, maybe you still don't remember your identity, I'll call you 'Jane' huh," said the nurse, giving her name to 'Jane'. Jane remained silent, she could not answer any questions from the nurse. "Please eat regularly and don't forget to take your medicine!" The nurse left the room leaving Jane who was still confused. "Actually, who am I? Where am I now? What happened to me? Who brought me here?" There were too many questions in her head that made curious to find her identity.

Jane felt herself getting better, she started trying to sit up from her position then stood up, walked towards the receptionist to ask for her identity. "Excuse me, I would like to know the name of the patient who is in room 26." "Okay, wait a minute sis." The nurse started looking for a list of patient names on the computer, "Sorry Mrs, the identity of the patient in room 26 is not clearly known, but here it says the name 'Margaretha', maybe that's all I can help you with," Hearing the name 'Margaretha' made Jane even more frustrated, her forehead began to furrow "Who is Margaretha? I can't remember anything," Jane returned to her treatment room, she sat languidly on the bed while thinking about who she really was.

While Jane was daydreaming, her bedroom door opened, revealing a man who looked very foreign to her. "Excuse me, unidentified miss, right?" asked the man. With a sense of confusion Jane gave a small nod in response to the man's question. "You're curious about your real identity right?" asked the man as if he knew what Jane was thinking. "Yes, how did you know?" replied Jane in bewilderment. "If you want to know your true identity, come with me!" take the foreign man. Jane, who heard the man's invitation, thought maybe this was a good way to find out his true identity. "Fine, I'll come with you!" Jane firmly accepted the stranger's invitation.

After getting a list of the names of the passengers on the plane that day, her eyes began to search for the last name "Margaretha" because that was the only last name she remembered from the day of the accident. She kept reading from top to bottom in search of Margaretha's last name, her eyes stopped on the twenty-first line of the last name 'Margaretha'. Her eyes widened when she saw what her real name was. It turns out that the woman referred to as "Jane" has the real name "Gigie Xavier Margaretha". She kept reading the name intensely. Feeling quite satisfied reading and remembering that name, Jane took a copy of the names of the passengers on the plane that day, the day the plane she was on experienced a turbulence and an accident. Then the copy was immediately printed by Jane to be given to the father who had been waiting for it.

A printed list of names was given to the man who is helping her now to find out who 'Jane' really is. She read a printed copy of the list of names of the passengers on the plane which had been pointed out by 'Jane' right at the name 'Gigie Xavier Margaretha'. The man response in front of 'Jane' was only nodding and pulling Jane's hand so tightly, he brought Jane, who somehow he himself didn't know where the man was taking her. The two people entered a fairly large room at the airport that had the word 'ARCHIVES' written on the door. The archive room holds a lot of memories that have occurred decades ago until now.

Tragedy, phenomena, awards, even the visits of important people to the airport decades ago are still stored in that room. The man brought Jane to the front of a torn newspaper which confused Jane. The man explained that in the torn newspaper there was news of the plane crash that Jane was on that day, Jane's memory immediately returned to the seconds of the accident. After her memory recovered, Jane's curiosity became more and more, Jane and the man continued to look for files that contained damaged organs on the CVR-771 AIR plane that she was traveling on because Jane felt that something was odd about the turbulence incident. Jane and the man continued to search through various files that he wanted to know the truth about. After a long time of searching, Jane found a brown folder entitled 'flight feasibility'. She opened the contents of the folder containing the files and after reading and understanding he now understands the cause of the turbulence on the CVR-771 AIR plane he was traveling on.

It turned out that the airport deliberately did not notify the damage and flightworthiness of the CVR-771 AIR aircraft because informing them of any complaints about the aircraft only damaged the airport's reputation. And the airport also deliberately let the plane take off because it was too costly to repair the damage. It is not known who the manager and staff smuggled the money that should have been spent on repairing the plane. However, Jane and the man did not remain silent. They kept looking and searching until there was evidence of a financial transaction on behalf of one of the managers and 10 other staff members who took part in the smuggling.

Finally, Jane's memory recovered, which Jane remembered that on the day of the flight, there was indeed a small debate between several staff, officials, and several managers as well. It turned out that they were arguing about the flight of the CVR-771 AIR which should not have taken off because the damage to the plane was indeed quite severe and it was not allowed to fly. The staff and managers who smuggled the money were finally arrested and detained two days after Jane got the evidence, Jane's feelings were relieved and the father smiled too because of the truth that Jane had got. Jane's smile was comparable to a hug, don't you, the father who was hugging her, said softly "thank you for helping to find the truth" and the father who was hugging him answered with a nod, "you're welcome".

The End.

IMPRESSION MASAGE

FOREWORD

With utmost reverence and gratitude, we offer our ceaseless praises to the Almighty for boundless grace and favor upon our group, enabling us to reach the culmination of our novel, 'Forest of Mystery.' This chapter unravels the tale of Jane, who finds herself roused in a mysterious forest, entangled within its bewildering embrace, and desperately yearning for her escape.

Through the intricate threads woven within this chapter, we have come to a profound realization that the completion of this novel was an ardent collaborative effort, made possible through the unwavering support of our team and the invaluable contributions of Ms. Molly. We extend our sincerest apologies to our readers for any inadvertent writing errors that may have eluded our scrutiny, and we wholeheartedly embrace constructive criticism, recognizing it as a catalyst for our growth and improvement.

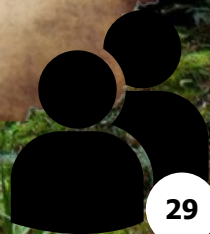

On that cold morning, Jane found herself caught in a massive accident. When she regained consciousness, confusion engulfed her as she struggled to recall anything beyond being the sole survivor of a catastrophic plane crash. Her memory remained a blank canvas, leaving her disoriented and uncertain.

As Jane surveyed her surroundings, she discovered herself in a peculiar and inexplicably bizarre forest, where enigmatic creatures roamed freely.

Fear and confusion intertwined within her, intensifying her sense of unease. Yet, amidst the overwhelming chaos, a glimmer of hope emerged when Jody and Brat came to her aid, extending their helping hands to lead her away from the crumbling remnants of the plane crash. With gratitude welling up inside her, Jane clung to her rescuers, relying on their guidance as they navigated through the strange forest, providing solace and companionship in the face of the unknown.

Jody and Brat had brought Jane back to their cabin. As they huddled together, a sudden creaking sound startled them all. The cabin door swung open, revealing a mysterious figure standing in the threshold. It was Brody, a stranger who remained silent as he observed Jane.

To their surprise, Brody reached into a pocket and produced a handful of peculiar leaves gathered from the forest. With a gentle touch, he applied the leaves to Jane's wounds, and an inexplicable warmth emanated from them, soothing her pain. Though Brody didn't utter a single word, his actions spoke volumes.

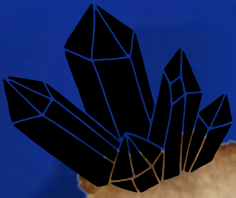

Jody, Brat, and Jane followed the map, their path leading them to a temple. Within its sacred walls lay a collection of shimmering crystals, each holding the promise of escape from the mysterious forest. However, only one crystal possessed the power to grant freedom, allowing only a single person to leave. The arduous journey that spanned both day and night, the trio persevered until they finally reached the temple's inner sanctum.

Jane summoned the courage to ask Brody for help in escaping from the forest. To her astonishment, Brody handed her a detailed map, outlining a path to freedom. Yet, as he did so, he cautioned Jane about the perils that awaited her on the journey. Glancing at Brat, Jane noticed a resentment in his eyes.

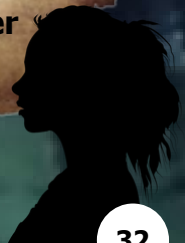

It was evident that Brat felt a jealousy, perceiving Jane's in obtaining the map from Brody.

At the edge of a perilous cliff, they discovered the coveted crystal. In a moment of eagerness, Jody grasped the crystal, her hand closing around its radiant form. But suddenly, Brat's festering hatred erupted into a violent act as he plunged a dagger into Jody's side. "I'm going to escape, not you!" he hissed with malice. Reacting swiftly, Jane rushed towards Brat, driven by a mix of instinct and desperation. Jane forcefully pushed him off the cliff's edge, sending both Brat and the crystal hurtling into the unknown depths below.

Jane's panic intensified as the crystal slipped from her grasp and plummeted into the abyss, leaving her even more bewildered. The very object that held the key to her escape from the forest now lay lost beneath the depths. Yet, in a fleeting moment, a glimmer caught her attention from the corner of her eye. A crystal emitted a radiant glow, triggering a faint memory within Jane's mind. She recalled that only one person could harness the true power of the crystal.

Clutching the glowing crystal tightly, she whispered her fervent desire to be liberated from the forest's clutches. Suddenly, darkness engulfed her vision, and Jane succumbed to unconsciousness, collapsing onto the forest floor.

After Jane regained consciousness, she discovered herself in a hospital room, enveloped by the presence of diligent doctors and attentive nurses. Approaching her with a visible sense of relief, one of the doctors wore a smile on their face as they conveyed the news that she had finally awakened from the coma. Moral of the story is one should never trust anyone completely, even though they may seem friendly and sweet at first.

One day there was a plane crash, the plane crashed on the outskirts of town. Aircraft crashes certainly take a lot of lives. and it turns out there is a woman who survived. after brought to the hospital, the woman fell into a coma so the nurses couldn't ask about her personal identity. Finally the nurse gave the woman a name, Jane. Several days later, Jane's identity was discovered. Her real name is Eliana, she is the first child of a husband and wife and has a younger sister, Elisia.

While her was waking up in his subconscious, her realized that he was in a strange place asking "What is this place? Where am I? And who are you?" and the king replied "You ask? I am your father and you are my daughter" and the woman replied "You're kidding, where am I?" and the king replied "My daughter, you are still tired dear. you better rest, the king raised his staff and pointed it at the princess and cast a spell to make her his sleep.

The woman woke up when the sun was rising, and there were several maids beside her. The woman again asked the maid who she really was and the maid explained that she was a princess from the Magic Kingdom, Princess Eliana. daughter of king eyros, the most powerful king in the world. and the maid also explained that the queen, queen lexa, the mother of princess eliana and the wife of king eyros had died when princess eliana was 3 years old due to illness.

Eliana was stunned to hear that story, her name was exactly like her name in the real world. Eliana is still confused, it's just that she must immediately finish her business in this place so that he could quickly return to where he belonged, that was all that was on his mind right now.

Finally Eliana decided to quickly take a shower and dress accompanied by him servant. When Eliana was ready she went into the dining room and there was her father, King Eyros. The king was very happy to see his daughter who had recovered and asked "how are you love? did you sleep well?" and Eliana stammered "I'm fine, I slept well too father" "Thank God" said the king.

Breakfast was finished, and the king left in a hurry because there was a sudden job, while Eliana was just stunned at the dining table "After this you want to see palace?" said the maid who turned out to be a friend of the princess. "Of course, and tell me how I was before" said Eliana traveled around the kingdom with Luna (maid).

After a long time, Eliana was getting used to the new world. Two years later Eliana was appointed as the successor to the royal throne, because the king was old and needed a successor to the throne. Hearing that the king would abdicate, many people rebelled against him for the throne. Many also thought that Eliana was unfit to lead the kingdom, Eliana did not give up on defending her throne, Eliana fought many evil witches who tried to block her.

So her meets a witch who has the power of black magic, forbidden knowledge in the kingdom. Eliana fights with witches who have black magic powers, in order to defend her throne. Their battle was so fierce, that Eliana's magic was unable to withstand the attack and Eliana fell to the ground, her vision darkened.

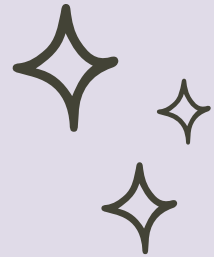

When Eliana woke up realizing that she was no longer in the palace, she woke up in the hospital and was accompanied by several people Eliana knew clearly, namely her father and mother and sister in the real world. It turns out that Eliana has been in a coma in the hospital all this time after the plane crash. Her family was very happy to see Eliana wake up from her coma. Eliana realized that she had been having dreams while she was in a coma.

Eliana's feelings are erratic, she is happy because she can see her family again but at the same time she feels sad because she doesn't know what happened in the world of magic. Eliana has learned many things from her adventures, one of which is to keep fighting and never give up in life.

Impression and our message when making stories

Impressions while writin stories it's exciting, because the work is done together sometimes there are negotiations for what will happen next in the story. So you cam also learn how to write stories, and learn a lot and add to your vocabulary for stories.

IMPRESSION AND MESSAGES

Our class, X-6, is overwhelmed with gratitude as we proudly announce the successful completion of our meticulously crafted short story, "Jane in the adventure of madness." This endeavor was no small feat it involved a series of dynamic processes that allowed us to tap into our collective creativity. We began by engaging in vibrant discussions within our team, where we carefully examined and processed the ideas brought forth by each member. Through this collaborative effort, we skillfully transformed these ideas into a captivating and cohesive narrative that captivated both our hearts and minds.

As we reflect upon this achievement, we cannot overlook the instrumental role played by our esteemed English teacher, Ms. Maulidia Rahmi, S.Pd., M.Hum. Her unwavering support, guidance, and expertise have been invaluable throughout this journey. Her dedication to nurturing our language skills and fostering our passion for storytelling have been instrumental in shaping the final outcome of our short story. Ms. Molly belief in our abilities and her ability to inspire and push us to reach our full potential has been truly transformative.

This journey has taught us the importance of collaboration, perseverance, and the power of imagination. We understand that a story is incomplete without the involvement and feedback of its readers, and we eagerly welcome any suggestions, observations, and constructive criticism you may have. Your insights will play a vital role in guiding us toward further refining and enhancing this short story in the future.
